BARKER CENTRAL SCHOOL

Alma Mater

Just outside our little village
With its buildings tall;
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Known and loved by all.

Chorus:
Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Each and every one;
Help to praise old Barker Central
For the victories won.

Our strong ties can ne'er be broken
Formed in B.C.S.
So we'll love and honor Barker
Far above the rest.

Chorus:
Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Help us to express
All our love for Barker Central,
Dear old B.C.S.

Though we'll leave old Barker Central
With its memories dear;
All our joys and all our sorrows
Will still linger near.

Chorus:
Raise your voices, Seniors, Juniors,
Loud her praises tell;
Hail to thee our Alma Mater,
B.C.S. All Hail.

Foreword

"Those were the days my friend, We thought they'd never end.

As editors of the 1969 Latrator, we have chosen the theme, "Those Were the Days", to help preserve the memories of our years here in Barker and to present a picture of life at Barker Central School. The various phases of our education are symbolized in the new school emblem which we have presented on our cover and divider pages.

In 1956, when we first entered B.C.S., it seemed an eternity before the year 1969. Then, the busy days went rushing by us, and suddenly we realize they are almost gone. Now, after thirteen years of hard work and starry dreams, we can proudly look back and say, "Those were the days".

Dedication

Dear Mr. Price,

At this time, the Class of 1969 would like to dedicate our yearbook to you to thank you formally for the many things you have done for our class and school.

In the years to come, we will remember not only your help in the fields of mathematics and science but also your sound advice to our class activities. You were of great assistance to us during our Junior year, with its many events. In our final year, your assistance has been invaluable in many projects too numerous to mention.

You have guided us through these past few years; but, even more important, you have provided us with an example to follow.

Sincerely yours,
The Class of 1969

Fond Memories

Our years at Barker Central have come to an end. Our Senior year has been a climax to thirteen years of education.

Many of us have been classmates since our kindergarten days. Some of our original class members have left us, but we have welcomed many new members, so our class membership totals 81.

Our high school years have been busy ones. As Sophomores, our first real money-making project was a fish dinner. Our class showed what true organization meant in our Junior Year. This year, we had our Junior Prom-Winter Carnival—and the Junior-Senior Banquet-Carnival in May. We also bought our class rings this year.

Before we knew it our Senior Year was upon us. This year we presented Bachelor Father in November. We also had charge of the movies, dances, and refreshments at the football games. As our special money-making project, this year, we sold Christmas Cards.

Although, we the Class of 1969, are leaving Barker, we will carry with us the wonderful memories of our school years.

The ending and the beginning.

A Special Thanks from the Seniors To . . .

Mrs. Ruth Holmes and Mrs. Mary Pratt are busy planning the advertising campaign.

Mrs. Pratt—She is our advisor who took a great interest in our class and devoted much of her time to our activities.

Mrs. Holmes—Her personal assistance and guidance made this yearbook possible.

Mr. Luff—He is the man who was our financial advisor and organizer of many Senior events.

Mrs. Welge—This artist helped many of our decorative ideas to become realities.

Mrs. Davis—This permanent Senior advisor guided our class through traditional Senior business.

A teacher performs many tasks to guide the student's search for truth. As a friend and a teacher, each one of you has helped to make these joyous days at Barker. Your personal integrity and zeal for life has stirred our intellect and emotions to better ourselves and to broaden our knowledge.

A consistency, an interest in working with people, a sense of humor, and fairness make all of us feel as if we were your children instead of students.

Mrs. Laura Davis and Mrs. Dorathy Welge discuss decoration.

Mr. John Luff constructs a box to hold all the Senior money.

June, 1969

Dear Juniors,

The departing Seniors envy the Junior class who still has its last and most promising year of school ahead of it. One of the Junior advisors described the class as hard working and enthusiastic. You entered seventh grade confused and disorganized. From this, you have built your group to one which was able to plan and execute efficiently a spaghetti supper in the Sophomore year. Your Junior year was filled with challenges in the form of the Junior Prom and the Junior-Senior Banquet. These, you have met, and in doing so, broadened your capabilities. Receiving your rings was a highlight of your active year as Juniors.

In your senior year, you will profit by new and more difficult experiences. You will find the need for personal initiative in overcoming the problems you will face. Your excellent advisors will be invaluable in the year that lies ahead for you, the Juniors.

Juniors, be prepared to take up the difficult task of being seniors, the example for the school, and do your best.

Sincerely yours,

Board of Education

The Board of Education is a busy foundation of our school. The members are responsible for planning and school policies. This year's Board has been especially busy with the building of the new elementary school.

The Board of Education has a difficult job. They must keep with the changing times and adjust the school policies to fit these changes. They also must be conscious of changing curriculums so that B.C.S. students will receive the best of today's education.

Mr. Daniel Hogan is the current president; Mr. Wilfred Fitts, vice-president.

Early stages of the new primary addition.

A Message from the Administrators of Barker Central School

To the Class of 1969:

One of Robert Frost's best-known poems closes with these lines:

"But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep."

As you complete high school, you, too, have miles to go and promises to fulfill. The direction and purpose you set for yourself will determine how well you will fulfill these obligations.

In an earlier day, in times when less tension, confusion, and conflict existed than is the case today, it was possible to sum up a philosophy of life in such words as these: "I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith." Today it seems to us far more difficult for our youth to decide what cause to fight for, what course to follow, and what faith to hold.

It is our hope that each of you will be able to establish for yourselves those guidelines which can add meaning and purpose to life; we hope, too, that in working toward these goals, you will be able, in some small way at least, to contribute to the making of a better world than we have known.

Sincerely,

Gerald Hall
Eugene Erb
Grace T. Raymond

BARKER CENTRAL SCHOOL

CURRICULUM

English and History – Basics at B.C.S.

Miss Marion Pike works with the new syllabus.

These basics consume two class periods of each student's school day. The aims of all English courses at Barker are to develop an appreciation for good literature, a desire to write and speak with proficiency, and an overwhelming curiosity about life through a study of the Humanities. In addition to the regular courses in English, one high school development reading course and several junior high reading classes are taught.

This year the history syllabus has made a change from American History to American Studies. Textbook learning has been changed to discovery by the use of various other sources such as films, pamphlets, and other methods of research. Students are taught to think through situations and find basic conceptions, in addition to factual material. In keeping with this change, the other classes have been studying the Cultural Heritage of the U.S. in seventh grade; U.S. History in eighth grade; Asian and African Culture in ninth grade; World History in tenth grade; and American Studies in eleventh and twelfth grades.

Marshall Johnson and Bev Foote make good use of reading class equipment.

Bill Atwater researches for American Studies.

Math and Science: Fields of the Future

Barker prides itself on maintaining math and science courses in keeping with the ever-changing scientific world.

Math courses at Barker range from general math to advanced math. General and business math are for students who are not preparing for college. Advanced math contains studies of analytic geometry and calculus which prepare college bound students for later advanced courses.

The new New York State syllabi in physics and chemistry have been adopted at Barker, and those in earth science and biology will be adopted as soon as they are completed. Exploratory courses in seventh and eighth grades form an introduction to the high school sciences. Freshmen who do not need further science courses may take general science.

Upon high school graduation, a student needs to have some knowledge of math and science in order to "keep up" in the modern world. Barker has a variety of courses to suit such needs.

Creativity in the Fine Arts

Mrs. Helen Seward teaches a familiar Christmas carol.

Barker students have long been noted for their work in the fine arts. The music department enables students to gain an appreciation of music and to learn the basic fundamentals. Vocal and instrumental classes whet the students' appetite for all types of music from folk to classical selections.

The art department gives students the opportunity to increase their talents and knowledge of works of art. They also learn how to express themselves in such media as painting, sculpturing and mosaics.

Modern Living Demands Practical Arts

The clamor of the agriculture and mechanical shops and the delicious fragrances coming from the homemaking kitchens serve notice that the students in these departments are constantly busy.

Not only do the agriculture students study the theories of farming and allied pursuits but they also apply their knowledge to the running of the school farm and to the carrying out of special personal projects.

Woodworking and mechanical shop courses provide boys with practical experience in these areas.

The homemaking courses cover many fields. In seventh and eighth grades, the girls are introduced to the fundamentals of sewing and cooking. As they master these, they learn more difficult techniques: preparing elaborate dinners and teas and fashioning intricate wardrobes. The course in family relationships offers much to the girls as they took ahead to the future.

Physical Education: A Necessity at All Ages

Up and over for a score!

Physical education begins in kindergarten where students learn to play games and to coordinate their muscles. Through the years, various skills are taught such as the use of apparatus and endurance in exercise tests. In third grade, students are allowed to take swimming. Later, instruction is given on swimming techniques, and Red Cross achievement cards are given to those who have successfully passed the skills test. Pool classes also offer instruction in synchronized swimming. The students learn to swim together at a uniform speed and to execute various maneuvers to enhance the way of swimming. Boys learn to swim with speed along with the regular swim instruction. Water games give a feeling of competition, besides giving the students a change from the routine of the pool classes.

Boys in gym class compete for the best track time.

Additional Services: Produce Better Citizens

The driver education course at B.C.S. allows students, at least sixteen years of age, to learn the skills of driving a car under all conditions. Those students who finish with an 85% average receive the traditional "blue card" which allows them to drive at night at the age of seventeen. Boys who successfully pass the course are able to secure lower insurance rates.

Each year, night school courses in many subjects are provided from November through March. Each class meets once a week for three hours. Mr. John Bertha is director of the program. Courses range from high school equivalency preparation to welding.

The adult education program is further indication of the Barker Central School staff's interest in the education of the individual throughout his entire life.

Mr. Joseph Macaluso points out the fine points to night school artists.

Future Teachers of America

The Barker Chapter of the Future Teachers of America meets the first Wednesday evening of each month in the high school library. At half of the meetings, adult speakers address the group; at the other half, student members prepare the programs.

Every senior member spends at least two periods in the grades. All other members work one period a week in the grade library.

"April is Teaching Career Month" is observed by presenting an outside speaker to the high school assembly, preparing exhibits in school and town, and taking special field trips.

In May, the annual banquet is held where officers for the coming year are installed and special awards are made.

That many of the club's former members are now teachers testifies to the earnestness of those who join the Barker Chapter.

Organized in 1960, the Nahoba Chapter of Barker of the National Honor Society derives its name from the first two letters of the words, National Honor of Barker.

The society was founded to promote the qualities of character, service, leadership and scholarship. In order to become a candidate for membership, a student must have attended Barker for one semester and maintained an 85% average in a Regents program.

The colors of the N.H.S. are blue and gold signifying leadership and scholarship. The motto is Noblesse Oblige, noble obligation. The society's motto is carried out in service to the school by the members. The flower of the society is the yellow rose, a symbol of creation and beauty. The emblem is the keystone and torch, symbolizing perfection and knowledge.

Library Club

The members of the Library Club have important jobs. They keep the bookshelves in proper order and help other students find specific books. Each member spends one period a day in the library signing out books for students and helping to maintain the silence so necessary in a library where serious work is being done.

Although each member does his own job, there are some members who must spend at least three hours each day in the library in order to keep it running.

These members must do all the preparatory work for the next day. This includes securing sources of information such as magazines and pamphlets that will be needed for the various topics the students are doing in research activities.

Under the guidance of both Mrs. Mary Pratt and Mrs. Frances White, the Library Club members are taught new techniques which they must apply to their work each week. The club tries to hold a meeting weekly to plan the upcoming week's schedule.

Through experiments and demonstrations, these young people probe into the numerous mysteries of the scientific world.

The club's purpose is to promote interest in science and to expose the members' minds to many aspects of science. These goals are accomplished through guest appearances by speakers and by scientific contests.

Each member of the club is encouraged to pursue his or her special interest and to develop new goals. Their advisor, Miss Pricilla Wolfe, gives her special aid to each member and is important in arousing the interest displayed by the members.

Their Goals Are High

The Barker Chapter of the Future Homemakers has long been a well-organized extracurricular activity in Barker. The advisor, Mrs. Doreen Snowdon, helps the members achieve new goals for a more successful life. The chief purposes of this organization are to create in the girls a desire to build strong family unity, to take pride in their community, and to establish values and goals to help personalities mature. This year, the organization has been studying rules for good citizenship.

In the fall, at the F.H.A. Rally, Barker had charge of the song and relaxers, ceremony relative to the correct use of the flag, and the prayer song.

This organization prepares young women to become wives and mothers of tomorrow.

Barker Central

A whipping motion to make the mashed potatoes smooth.

The music department is a flourishing phase of extracurricular activities at Barker. One reason for this is the dedication of both directors and students to their bands and choruses.

Band A is well-known throughout the state for the superb quality of music which it presents. Mr. Herbert Ludwig, director, has guided the members' abilities to form a well-blended sound. He has the full cooperation of all members, a factor which is very important. Many hours of hard work and effort are put into each piece of music. The members of the band receive a special guidance in semi-private lessons once a week to perfect their skills. Every day the band rehearses as a group during the fifth period. Each year, members participate in All-State programs, County and All-State Music Sectionals, a spring concert, and numerous other concerts throughout the year.

Band B and Training Band, under the direction of Mr. Brian Donley, prepare the younger students for Band A and their further musical interests. Here, they learn the needed techniques and background. This year, Band B is composed of ninety-four members; and Training Band, of fifty members.

The choral department is just getting a foothold in the curriculum at Barker. The High School Chorus, directed by Mrs. Helen Seward, has given its members an insight into the vast field of music.

They are still learning the correct techniques and skills of singing. The Grade School Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Charles Benedict, learn to strengthen their voices and learn the correct singing procedures. The choruses present concerts along with the bands each year.

The Medical Careers Club is a continuation of the F.N.A. of earlier years. This organization's purpose is to learn about medical careers and to learn first-aid technique. The members work in the health office one period a day in order to obtain the necessary experience in first aid and comforting the ill. This year, a special assembly was sponsored by this organization. The subject was drug addiction. First hand knowledge was given by two young people. A baked food sale was held to raise funds which are used to help the needy.

At meetings, Mrs. Norita Stutz, the advisor, talks with the members about the new medical careers and new discoveries in medical science. Movies are also shown so the members may see how other countries live and what their medical needs are.

An initiation banquet is held each year in order to bring in new members. These members take an oath to learn about the medical profession.

You haven't got those pages done yet?

"Those were the days my friend,
We thought they'd never end,
We'd sing and dance forever
and a day.
We'd live the life we chose,
We'd fight and never lose,
For we were young and sure to have our way."

Those certainly were the days!

The completion of such a vast project as a yearbook requires the help of numerous people. We would like to give a special thanks to our advisor, Mrs. Ruth Holmes, for her invaluable assistance. We would also like to thank our staff, who spent many hours to put together this book, our book.

Varsity Cheer

Ready Go
T-e-a-m Go
T-e-a-m Fight
T-e-a-m Win
T-e-a-m
T-e-a-m Go - Fight - Win

The goal of every athlete is to win. Winning is not easy, and it is the result of many factors. Among these are determination, coaching, attitude and, of course, natural athletic ability. Perhaps more important than any one of these things alone is organization: the willingness and ability to mold and shape these factors together while logically viewing future goals.

This year's Varsity Club felt that they should play an active part in the sports program in their school. At the same time, they wanted to take a keen interest in other aspects of their school and community life.

In order to be a member of the Varsity Club, a person must hold at least one varsity letter in any of the seven sports offered at Barker.

Sponsored by: BARKER BEAUTY SALON

Under the guidance of Mr. William Annable, head athletic director at Barker, the club proceeded to hold several bake food sales which earned considerable amounts of money.

The biggest event sponsored by the Barker Raider Varsity Club was the basketball game featuring the WKBW Yo Yo Basketball team versus the Barker Men's faculty team. This event was a huge success, both in the realms of finance and enjoyment.

Two sports that the Varsity Club is boosting particularly this year are Cross Country and Baseball. Last fall, the Barker Cross Country Team overcame a major problem to put together a good season. This problem was the unusually low number of boys out for the squad.

Five boys guided by two coaches entered the season, hopeful that they all would be present when the schedule concluded. They were.

Paul Rutherford did an outstanding job of running while placing high in every meet. Co-Captain Erick Brown ran consistently; and he, along with Rutherford, finished high in the league meet held at Albion this year. Bill Witcop ran with much determination while Curt Brent and Gordon Kenyon turned in good performances. The high point of the season was a 27-28 win over Albion.

Cross Country at its easiest is a highly demanding sport, both physically and mentally. Conditioning and preparation are mandatory. Doing a fine job in developing and coaching the boys were Mr. Robert Graue and Mr. Thaddeus Upton.

Honored at the end of the fall sports season was Gordon Kenyon who was awarded the Most Improved Runner Trophy.

Future success in this sport may be determined by the large number of Junior High boys who showed an interest in the sport this fall.

The 1968 Varsity Baseball season fell below what was expected. The team hit well, but the lack of defense greatly hampered them. Tom Sullivan and Curt Brent were the leading hitters and formed an effective battery. Another steady hitter was Doug Dickinson. Gary Wass and Ron Carpenter manned third and first base spots respectively. The lone defensive standout was Steve Jeffrey who was the center fielder. He was flanked by rightfielder Billy Flowers and left fielders, Gary Sandolfini and Loren Snell. Composing the bench were Perry Bush, Tom Stratton, and Tom Surdel.

Varsity Football

Keep the faith, Barker.

This year, the Barker Raiders experienced a fine season despite the lack of depth on the squad. In evaluating the team, one can see how important individual performances are in the sport of football and how this fact will be a big asset to future football teams at Barker, especially next year at the beginning of the year; Coaches Fredrick Lampman and Richard Fiorucci prepared the boys for their last year of competition in the Niagara-Orleans League. It proved to be, at the beginning, a wide-open race; but as the season progressed, individual performances outshone the team play.

The offense which improved with each game, was led by Loren Snell, the junior quarterback who gained much experience and who should make a big contribution to next year's team. The strongest part of the team was in the offensive backfield where junior fullback Bob Harrod gained nearly three hundred yards. He was complemented by the slashing running of senior halfback, Billy Flowers, and the speedy outside running and receiving of sophomore halfback, Gary Cochrane. Senior Kevin Connolly performed well at center. Good blocking was provided by guards Tom Surdel and Doug Dickinson. Providing good protection at tackle was Perry Bush.

The defense was led by Tom Stratton at defensive end and linebacker Doug Dickinson. Juniors Surdel and Bush also provided a strong rush in opposing the Niagara-Orleans League quarterbacks. Flowers and Snell also doubled as defensive halfbacks. Doug Piskorowski did the kicking.

At the annual Fall Sports Assembly, the most valuable player was selected on a points award basis. Senior Douglas Dickinson received the award for his all-around outstanding play and sportsmanship. With the fine Junior players on this year's team, plus a large array of underclassmen, next year may very well be "the year".

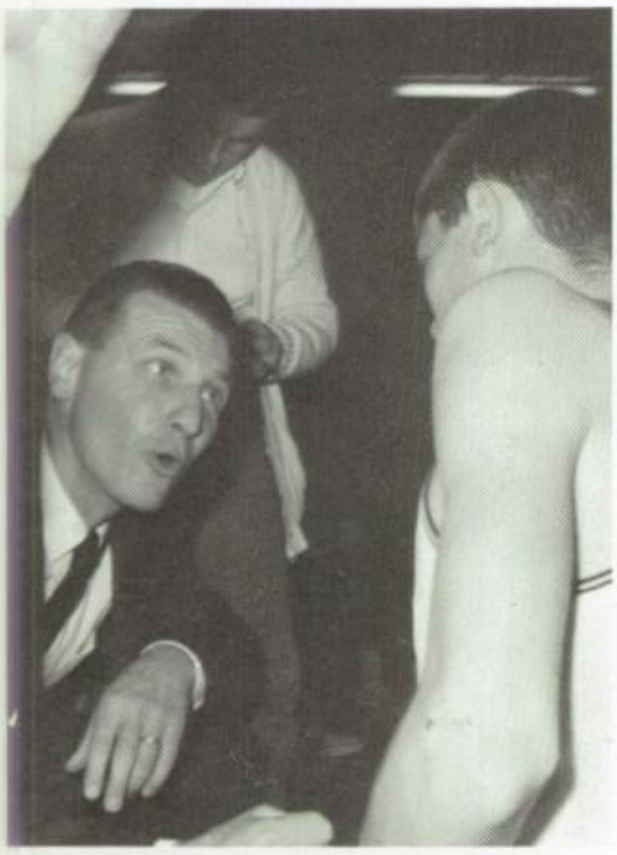
Varsity Basketball



O-o-oh! What did you do?

The winter sports season at B.C.S. was highlighted by the performance of the Varsity Basketball Team. This year marked the entrance of the team into the Genesse-Orleans League. There was much apprehension to how the squad would do in the new environment.

Despite our boys' lack of height, the team turned in an excellent season. At the beginning, Barker started out with an impressive victory over Elba by a wide margin. After suffering two tough defeats, Barker then romped over teams such as Attica, Wilson, Lyndonville, Wyoming and Alexander. Throughout these victories, the scoring was very evenly distributed among the five regulars. Guard Kenny Robinson consistently hit baskets from outside.

Center Billy Flowers was a key team member whose rebounding was at times, outstanding. Guard Steve Jeffrey and Loren Snell provided unvarying team scoring from around the key. Forward Chuck Hogan played steadily under the basket. These boys were backed by a strong bench.

The Varsity team was again led this year by Mr. William Annable who demands not only physical prowess but also fine mental and moral attitudes for his players.

J.V. Basketball

The Barker Junior Varsity basketball team was a well-rounded and talented one. Coach Robert Wittlinger did an excellent job in his first attempt as a J.V. mentor.

Willie Walker was high scorer and a very tough rebounder all year long. The guards, Bob Cochrane and John Brent, were a talented duo with both speed and moves. Doug Piskorowski scored and rebounded consistently while Gary Cochrane played a strong floor game.

This Junior Varsity certainly indicates a strong team in years to come. At one time during the season, the team won five in a row. As further evidence of the balance of the team, the bench consisted of Tony Elias, Bob Frost, Doug Roberts, Don Roberts, Corky Greenwald, Terry Miles, Dave Hickey, Dana Anderson and Charles Poyfair. On several occasions, these boys entered a tough game and proved to have the winning edge.

Wrestling Team

The wrestling team which was such a huge success last year continued to roll along under the able direction of Mr. Norman Kahler in his first year at Barker.

Because the boys often train near the halls and up and down the stairs, the work and spirit of the wrestlers is apparent to nearly everyone in the high school building. The school's response to the wrestling team has shown that attendance at meets has doubled since last year.

Freshmen Chris Stratton and Steve Ray wrestle in the 95 and 103 lb. brackets. Paul Richards has done a fine job in the 112 lb. category. At 120 lbs., Jim Stratton is co-captain of the team. Several boys, Art Ackerman, Mike Collie and Mike Wolski, share the responsibilities of the 127 weight class.

Seniors Bob Wagner and Tom Gancasz occupy the 133 lb. and 145 lb. spots and are the team's most consistent performers. Sophomores Paul Rutherford and Jeff Wagner wrestle at the 138 lb. and 154 lb. rankings. Juniors Tom Stratton and Tom Surdel wrestle at 165 lbs.

Freshman Stanley Pisarski throughout mid-season had done a great job in winning all but one of his matches.

The team's best effort undoubtedly was against Lyndonville. They upset this school in a tremendous match. Barker's combined record of 7-3 deserves much recognition. It is hoped that younger wrestlers such as John M. Donald and Rick Poyfair will help the team at this high level of success in the years ahead.

Swimming Team

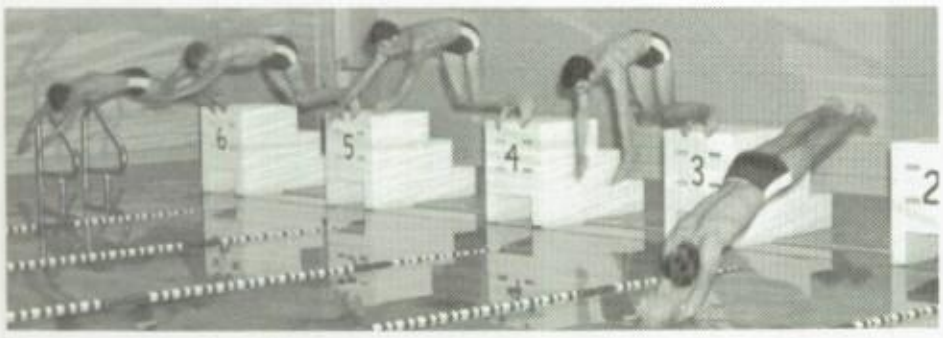
The Barker swimming team this year performed admirably under some unfortunate circumstances. Again, lack of depth was the big obstacle. The loss of Tom Eaton who was the team's top performer (until he broke his leg) was a heartbreak. Because of the small number of boys on the squad, many points were lost in forfeit, a particular hindrance to the relay teams.

However, the swimmers performed well in what must be the most grueling physically of all sports.

Individually, all the squad members worked hard and bore responsibilities in several events apiece. Gordon Kenyon turned in good times both in the 200 and 400 yards freestyle. Mike Fisher, along with Erick Brown, handled the butterfly and the individual medley. John Loftus swam the butterfly while John Turner participated in the breaststroke. In the 50 and 100 yards sprints, Lowell McAdam progressed very fast. John Wagner swam the crawl and backstroke easily.

The first relay team consisted of Bill Witcop, backstroke; John Turner, breast stroke; John Loftus, butterfly; and John Wagner, freestyle.

Certainly Coach Thor Borresen can be proud of their efforts.



So graceful are they!

Gee, Benny, you can do better than that!

Aquettes

These girls of the Aquettes are learning poise and grace of movement through the many enjoyable hours they spend in the pool.

Gliding through the water in synchronized motion, the girls perform a water ballet. They acquire skills through their efforts in mastering water stunts. Miss Karen Steele, faculty coach, tries to make the girls understand they are strengthening both body and mind through participation in this activity.

At the end of their year as Aquettes, these girls have formed a bond as a result of their cooperation in perfecting their performances. They have acquired a gracefulness that they will retain throughout their lives and a knowledge of cooperation and respect for other people. Miss Steele is instrumental in promoting this sense of togetherness among the members.

Raiders Team Tough

Raider's team-tough
The Raider's team is really tough, we're
Out to get ya tonight.
The Raider's team has got the stuff,
We're really gonna fight.
Raiders Touch
Got the stuff
Raider's-tough enough.

With smiling faces and high school spirit, the Varsity Cheerleaders come to athletic events ready to spur Barker on to victory. Even when the odds are against us, the girls' cheers bring a feeling of hope.

Their sportsmanship has shown other schools the pride we take in our own school. Without them, the spirit of our school would be far diminished. The cheerleaders have given assemblies throughout the year to increase the enthusiasm for the night games.

The Friday afternoon Pep Rallies sponsored by the girls, mirror their zest which is so infectious that everyone else catches fire, too. With Miss Karen Steele as their coach, the cheerleaders put much time and effort into the making of a uniform squad. They frequently attend cheerleading clinics to learn the newest trends.

Back Row: L. Molyneaux, V. Breckon, K. Borreson, T. Bergquist, F. Peterson. Kneeling: J. Dierich.

"We've got the spirit, so let's hear it." This simple phrase, from a cheer led by the J.V. Cheerleaders expresses their goal. Under the direction of Miss Karen Steele, they promote the ideals of school spirit and good sportsmanship. They give the players a sense of purpose and self-confidence. No matter what the weather may be, the girls are present at every football and basketball game.

Each girl, as an individual, performs to the best of her ability. As a group, they practice many long, tedious hours to perfect their unity and skill.

Go-Fight-Win

That's our team
We're mighty proud,
So let's all cheer,
Come on, crowd.
Go Barker Go—
Go Barker Go—
Go Barker, Go Barker, Go, Go, Go!

THOSE WERE OUR DAYS 1956-1969

Once upon a time at Barker Central
We used to have a lot of fun.
Remember how we laughed away the hours
And how we studied, each and everyone?

Then the active years somehow slid by us
We lost our golden dreams along the way.
If by chance we meet in years to come
We'll smile at each other and will say:

Those were the days, classmates,
We thought they'd never end
When we began in 1956.
But as the days hurried on,
We realized soon that they'd be gone.
We had good times and bad
And finally came graduation, so sad,
But the future soon convinced us
School days were just the start.

These words express not only the feelings of the editors and staff but of the class of 1969 as well.
